TO: Undergraduate Studies Committee and Undergraduate Academic Affairs
FROM: Lewis Department of Humanities
DATE: March 13, 2012
RE: New specialization within the Humanities major

Digital Humanities

A student pursuing this specialization will choose (with advisor approval) eight courses in humanities with a digital/technological orientation, such as the following existing and new courses (which also are or will be available to all undergraduates as general education upper-level humanities electives):

Existing Courses
HIST 375 History of Computing
HIST 382 Technology in History 1500 to 1850
HIST 383 Technology in History from 1850 to the present
HIST 380 Topics: Gender and Technological Change
COM 380/532 Rhetoric of Technology
COM 380 Topics: Humanizing Technology
COM 380 Topics: Social Networks
PHIL 374 Ethics in Computer Science
COM/PHIL 377 Communication Law & Ethics

New Courses
PHIL 380 Topics: Philosophy of Technology
LIT 380 Topics: Literature of Technology
HUM 380 Topics: Intro to Digital Humanities
HUM 380 Topics: Digital Media Studies
HUM 380 Topics: Digital Game Theory